STIRLING THEATRE "THE SOMME" Fri.-Sat., MAY 4-5 Sat. Matinee, 2.30 p.m.

THE PICTURE YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR CAPACITY HOUSES EXPECTED A HIGH-PRICED PICTURE AT REGULAR PRICES, 25c AND 15c

Play Well Attented

After last night's play, "Are You a Mason?" in Stirling's new theatre, perhaps there will be a great rush of candidates for masonry henceforth. The play of three-acts was presented by the Dramatic Club of Christ church A.Y.P.A., Belleville, under the auspices of St. John's A.Y.P.A., Stirling. The troupe brought along its own orchestra which rendered pleasing selections before and after the play and between the acts. The theatre was again packed, which shows that Stirling was very much in need of a public auditorium, before the new hall was erected, and that the people of Stirling and district want to patronize their own show house rather than go elsewhere for entertainment.

The caste of characters in "Are You a Mason?" was well chosen and each actress and actor played their parts well, having almost complete command of their lines. The play was a comedy and each act was well applauded. Franklin Lang, who played the role of George Fisher, a stock broker, formerly actor, made a hit with both the gents and ladies, playing a dual part of a girl and boy. Those playing the leads proved to be real artists and of professional calibre. The followisg is the caste: George Fisher, stock broker, formerly actor, Franklin Lang; Frank Perry, (his friend), Edgar Bateman; Amos Bloodgood (of Rockford, Ill., Perry's father-in-law), L. T. Legott; John Halton (a gentleman from up State), Walter Symons, Bert Wells; Hamilton Travers (doortender at a cabaret) Keith Gibson; Ernest Morrison (a young architect), F. W. Sherbert; Policeman, . Sergt. Harman; Mrs Caroline Bloodgood, Mrs. L. T. Legott; Eva (Mrs. Perry), Miss Edith Bone; Annie and Lulu (her daughters, Miss Lela Morton and Miss Elinor Gaa; Mrs. Halton (Halton's wife, Miss Minnie Diamond; Lottie cook to the Perrys, Miss Dorothy Gibson; Fanchon Armitage (a cloak model at Mme. Jolivet's), Mrs. E. Lang. Place of action—Perry's apartment in New York City. Time Friday in the forenoon, Act I; Saturday in the afternoon, Acts II and III.

Sells Residence On Church Street

Mr. Sam Handy has sold his residence on Church street to Mr. J. E. Munro, one of the owners of the Stirling Cheese Box & Basket Co. The new owner takes possession May 15th. Mr. and Mrs. Handy have secured rooms in Mrs. Bissonnette's house.

ST. ANDREW'S MISSION BAND

A very interesting study meeting of the Maple Leaf Mission Band was held in the S. S. room of St. Andrew's church Tuesday afternoon at 4.15, when the following program was given. In the absence of Mrs. A. G. Mackenzie, Mrs. Hammond presided. Hymn 768 was sung followed by Scripture reading taken from Luke 10: 25-37, the story of the Good Samaritan, followed by prayer for God's blessing on the band and a desire to help on in the work for missions ending with the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Collection was then taken and some of the members told how they earned it, one member stating that he earned it doing errands and another by holding a horse for a man while he went on business, total amount $1.15. Missionary hymn by the boys assisted in chorus by all. Reading by Lenora Ward, "The Boy who Wouldn't Give up." Sketch of the Life of Dr. J. Wilkie of the Gevalior Mission India, by Mrs. Bissonnette, who died very recently on shipboard returning for a much needed rest after nearly fifty years of work in the foreign field in India. Story by Mae Johnston, "How Peter Simon Found the True Light," an orphan boy in an Indian M. school who tried to live up to his namesake Simon Peter, in doing good to others and leaving to tell the story of Jesus and his love. Meeting closed with hymn 771 and the Mizpah Benediction.

Nose Fractured

Gerald Sprentall, son of Electrician F. Sprentall, had the misfortune to have his nose broken on Tuesday. Gerald, who is a baseball fan, was playing hardball with some of his pals in the park, near the bowling green, and was catching behind the batter. In place of receiving the ball in his glove, it landed full force upon his nostrils with the result that a bone was fractured.

Laundry Will Be Closed

Stirling's hard collar and "stiff-front" shirt wearers are going to be put to considerable inconvenience as to their laundry in the near future. Ing Lee or Lee Ing, either will do, the local "no tickie, no washie" man in Stirling for some years past, is closing up his wash house and expects to leave Stirling within the next week. Lee, so it is reported, has accepted a job as cook on a railway gang in the north, so in place of ringing out suds he will be dishing up chop suey.

FIELD CROP COMPETITION

Now would be a good time for those who intend to compete in the Field Crop Competition, held under the auspices of Stirling Agircultural Society. The crops this year are white oats and barley, the field to be of not less than five acres in extent, and anywhere within fifteen miles of Stirling. The prizes are worth trying for being $20, $15, $10, $8, $6, $4. Those entering must be members of the society which costs $1.00 and extra 50c as an entrance fee for each crop. Send your name and fees to the secretary, M. W. Sine, V.S., Stirling.

Oddfellows Go To Church

Stirling Lodge No. 239, Stirling Encampment No. 80, and Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211, of the I.O.O.F., observed the 109th anniversary of the founding of the Order in America, by gathering in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon for Divine service. Members of the Order were present from Frankford, Thomasburg, Tweed, Madoc, Belleville, Springbrook and Campbellford. More than eighty were in the line which was led by the Stirling band of twenty pieces, and about twenty members of the Belleville Canton No. 8, Patriarchs Militant. The Rev. A. N. Reid, B.A., Minister of the church, was the speaker, his subject being "Christian Leadership." Psalm LXXIV was read, while the responsive reading was of the XCVI Psalm, the second lesson was in Luke X, from which the text was taken, the 37th verse, the first part of which was based on the action of the good samaritan bringing out the fact which should be emphasized "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man." A great many would do the good samaritan act if the inn wasn't too far away. The second part of the sermon dealt with the motto of the Oddfellows, "Friendship, Love and Truth." Although Mr. Reid is not a member of the Order, he handled his subject in a very pleasing manner to the members, and could not help but benefit any one present. Mr. B. M. Richmond, of Madoc Lodge No. 179, had the distinctive honor of being the only one present wearing a veteran jewel for fifty years service in the Order.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton Celebrate Golden Wedding

Event is held in New Community Hall on Monday Night—Over 150 Present—Presented with Gold-Handle Umbrella and Purse of Gold—Many Floral Bouquets.

Monday was a memorable day to the members of the Morton family, when Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton, Stirling's grand "young" old couple celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. About 8 p.m. members and friends of the two family branches began to assemble in Stirling's new community hall and within an hour over one hundred and fifty people had gathered. The happy event was a complete surprise to the Guests of Honour and was arranged by the Mortons of this district. Mr. and Mrs. Morton journeyed to the community hall, not by horse and buggy as their trip was made 50 years ago, but in the modern method of travel of today, an automobile. The car was bedecked with streaming ribbons showing the old folk there was more in store to follow. On arrival at the hall the couple took their position at the door and there they met and talked with friends and relatives on both sides of the family. Relatives were present from various points in Canada and the United States, to do honour to a couple who have lived a life of useful wedded bliss together and who have looked with optimism to the future. A dutiful son, grandson, great-grandsons on both sides of the union were there and all vied in making it an occasion long to be remembered in the history of the family.

It was an outstanding assembly and one of the largest of its nature ever held in this community. The "Bride and Groom" were the centre of attraction and carried off their part on the program in fine style. Both Mr. and Mrs. Morton are enjoying good health, are bright, and still in possession of all their faculties, although they have reached a grand old age. Mr. Morton is 82 years old while Mrs. Morton is 76.

On April 30th, 1878, there was united in holy wedlock on the school lot on the Front of Sidney by the Rev. James Tomlin, Sarah Finkle, daughter of the late Emory and Caroline Finkle, to Alexander Morton, son of the late John and Emily Morton. There were few in attendance at the wedding but the happy couple had as their groomsman and bridesmaid John Hogle and Martha Finkle, a sister of the bride. After the ceremony the happy couple journeyed to their home on the 7th concession of Rawdon Township, not in the palatial conveyance of today, but by horse and buggy. There they started life on the farm with its various tasks, its pleasures and sorrows. Nine years ago the couple decided they had earned a rest from life's labors and they moved to Stirling purchasing a comfortable home and there they enjoy the twilight of their lives, the friendships they have made in the long road down the span of years. Two children blessed the union, Charles on the farm in Rawdon, who is carrying on for his father in that community, and William Manson, deceased some years.

Rev. C. W. Barrett, of St. Paul's United church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Morton are members, was chairman for the evening and executed the duties in his usual capable manner. The honoured couple were the recipients of several gifts, including a purse of gold from their son, Charles; a gold-handled silk umbrella from relatives, and many floral bouquets. In the presentation of the umbrella, Mr. J. S. Morton, of Stirling, read the following address, while little Jean Oddie, of Campbellford, made the presentation:

To Mr. and Mrs. Morton,

Dear Friends:

To most of us who are gathered here today you are uncle Alex and aunt Sara and as such we wish to address you. No doubt you are surprised at the number here, but when the word was passed around we were all eager to come, not out of curiosity to witness an unusual event, but to do honour to you, as too often occurrs men and women pass through this world with little encouragement and few kind words and when they are gone beautiful things are said about them. Our intention today is to show you what we think of you and the things I say might be written in your

Masons Attend Banquet

Among those form Stirling and district who attended the Masonic banquet, held in Belleville last Thursday night, in honour of the Hon. J. S. Martin, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, and Grand Master of the Ontario Masonic Grand Lodge, were:—Dr. C. F. Wait, Dr. J. R. Guthridge, Dr. E. A. Carleton, Dr. J. McC. Potts, W. L. Fox, W. H. Heath, V. Richardson, G. Watson, V. Taylor, John Rannie, A. G. Mackenzie, J. D. Mills, J. S. Whitehead, H. Buckingham, H. Reid, C. R. Bastedo G. B. Bedford, A. E. Dobbie.

ST. PAUL'S Y.P.S.

St. Paul's Y. P. S. met on Monday evening, with an attendance of 63. The president was in charge of the evening's program, it being fifth night. The devotional and song period was made very bright with sacred song service concluding with prayer by Rev. C. W. Barrett. Mr. Arthur Wilson, vice-president of citizenship Department of Belleville Presbytery, addressed the Leaguers. He related very clearly the relationship that should exist between the young people and their God. A nominating committee was selected to draft a slate of officers for the coming year. After the closing Mizpah Benediction Mrs. Nora Wescott put on the "The Double-Word" contest.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education met in the Board Room, in the High School, on Tuesday night, with H. C. Martin in the chair and the following members present: J. S. Morton, F. T. Ward, Dr. C. F. Walt, J. B. Belshaw, C. F. Linn, G. B. Bedford, Dr. J. McC. Potts, M. Bird.

J. S. Morton, chairman of the Property Committee, stated that caretaker Lamb had reported something wrong with the pump in the public school, and thought perhaps well was dry. However, an investigation was made and the well had lots of water and the pump is now working properly. Something will have to be done to the fireboxes in the boilers of both schools. Caretaker Lamb thought the one in the public school had dropped down about an inch. In all probabilities, the boilers will function until summer weather, after which repairs will have to be made, which may prove to be extensive. The Property Committee desired some instruction from the Board in this matter.

It was suggested that the insurance inspector be communicated with, requesting him to make an inspection of the boilers and submit a report to the Board.

H. S. Prin. Halpenny informed the Board that he received notice from the Insepctor of Cadet Service, stating that an officer will inspect the local cadets on Tuesday, May 15th, and extended an invitation to all members of the Board to attend..

P. S. Prin. Jackson asked permission to close his room on Friday following Victoria Day, stating that he would have his pupils return to school on a Saturday to make up for the time. The request was granted.

As the delegates to the Trustees' and Teachers' Convention, held in Toronto Easter week, Dr. H. Alger and J. S. Marshall, were not present, no report could be given.

The Teachers' Committee was authorized to interview the teachers of the two staffs regarding re-engagement, etc., and to submit result at the June meeting.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

Guild met as usual on Monday evening with a good attendance. The meeting was in charge of Gena Spry. After the devotional exercises, Ruth Gibson sang a solo, "The Prodigal Son." Rev. A. N. Reid dealt with the next chapter in the study book, "How to Teach the Life of Christ to an Intermediate." This is a time in the life of the child when Luke's Gospel is the favorite gospel and when the child admires Jesus for certain qualities of character. He stressed the idea that this period is the decision time and urged the importance of right choices being made. The topic, "The Westminister Divines," was very ably taken by the president, Mrs. L. McGee. These divines were earnest devout men who laboured without ceasing for over three years to frame the Westminster Confession of Faith. Much of this time was spent in earnest prayer and supplication that they might be lead to fully understand the true will of God. The Presbyterian church in Canada owes much to these stalwarts of the early church for framing "The Westminster Confession of Faith," which is still subscribed to by her members. Mrs. H. Rollins gave two short readings, "A Fine Thought" and "A Neighbourly Man," by Edgar Guest. The meeting was closed with the Benediction, after which Miss F. Matthews took charge of an interesting contest.

Stop! Look! Listen!

The Editor watched Stirling's danger corner for a while on Saturday afternoon to see if the youngsters "stopped, looked and listened." We are pleased to state that almost every youngster took heed when her or she came to the corners, by stopping and glancing along the streets in all directions before venturing across. This shows that the youngsters are heeding the warning and advice of their parents regarding safety. Boys seemed to be more daring, as the few who did not pay heed on Saturday were boys. This advice, "stop, look and listen," also applies to grown-ups.

Women And The Senate

There will be general dissatisfaction with the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada to the effect that women are not "persons" within the meaning of the British North America Act and are, therefore, not eligible for seats in the Senate. The emancipation of woman from her political disabilities has been a long process but, evidently, the complete abolition of barriers to sex is not yet an accomplished fact in Canada. The decision of the Supreme Court will probably have the effect, however, of hastening the day when, in Canada at least, the mothers and wives of men shall no longer be regarded as political pariahs. The judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada in this matter raises the question, if women are ineligible to sit in the Senate, what makes them eligible for membership of the House of Commons? If Miss McPhail, Canada's only woman M.P., is a "person" in the Commons does she cease to be a "person" in the Senate? Or, to reverse the position, if women are not eligible to sit in the Senate Chamber, not being "persons," are they legally entitled to sit in the House of Commons, not being "persons?" Either they are entitled to membership of both Chambers or of neither. They cannot logically or legally, common sense would say, be debarred from one legislative chamber while being admitted to the other, both legislative bodies being branches of the same government. There may be sound arguments against the right of women to be members of Parliament, Senates, or Legislatures. Such arguments will only be convincing when they are applied universally. To say a thing is right in one place and wrong in another, whether the two places are separated by a hundred yards of corridor or a thousand miles of sea, is to make right or wrong dependent on geography or location. This applies directly to the case of representation in the House of Commons and the Senate of Canada, both bodies being possessed of similar functions asd each being an arm of the administration of the country's affairs. Perhaps in the minds of the judges of the Supreme Court of Canada there was a feeling that the old boys of the Senate were not to be trusted in close association with members of the opposite sex, the "female of the species," as Kipling terms woman. You never can tell what influence an attractive woman might wield over those susceptible old gentlemen, most of them in the "sere and yellow leaf" and, consequently, not well-fitted to protect themselves from woman's wiles. The morals of men must be protected at all costs, assuming that Senators have morals. Perhaps, on the other hand, the judges thought the ladies might not be safe in Senatorial company. This is a compliment to the Commons but a terrible reflection on the Senate. Perhaps the judges think there are too many old women in the Senate already.

CURRENT COMMENT

Welcome May—Now for the real summer weather.

Old Jupiter Pluvius has been falling down on the job of late. Oh, for a little more sunshine—and less rain.

The city of Toronto and other municialities adopted daylight saving time last Sunday for the summer season.

Financial Post—The League of Nations has cost Canada $1,610,000, which suggests to-day's embarassing question: "Is it worth it?"

Trout fishing season is here!

Dog owners, watch your canines. The dreaded disease—rabies—is spreading rapidly west from Kingston.

Stirling's stores are now open Tuesdays and Thursday nights each week for the convenience of rural residents.

Several towns and villages have already commenced the weekly half-holidays. Stirling's half-holidays will not be observed until June 1st.

The seeding season is late this year. However, it will be remembered that the farmers did not sew grain until during the first week in May, two years ago, and bountiful crops were harvested.

The local bowlers are anxiously waiting the time to get on the green again. No doubt, W. J. Whitty, J. S. Morton, Walter Wright, Thos. Solmes, E. Eggleton and Dr. Guthridge, last year's premier kitty chasers, gaining this distinction by their partaking in outside tournaments, have their bowls all oiled up ready for the opening, and confident that they still can get the grass and the proper distance. The ladies have already organized their club, and the men will hold a re-organization meeting to-night.

IS RURAL DEAN OF PRINCE EDWARD

The Deanery Chapter for Prince Edward and Hastings counties met in Christ church Parish Hall, Belleville, last Thursday. Rev. B. F. Byers, Stirling, is Rural Dean of Prince Edward and Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Hastings County. There were 15 clergymen from the different parishes in attendance. At the meeting in the morning it was suggested and carried that Belleville and Shannonville be placed in the Prince Edward Deanery instead of Hastings. Other Geographical changes were made in the north respecting the location of certain parishes in different Deaneries. Another point under discussion was the question of election of the Rural Deans. The Deans are appointed by the Bishop for an indefinite term under the present constitution of the Deanery chapter. It was suggested that the Deanery chapter nominate the Rural Deans they to be appointed by the Bishops for a period of three years only.

HAROLD

We are pleased to note that Miss Evelyn Bailey, who underwent an operation in Belleville Hospital for appendicitis, is so far recovered as to return home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kirk, of Stirling, returned home after a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Bailey.

The Harold Cheese and Butter Company have been operating their plant here for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Geo. A. Bailey returned home after a two weeks' stay in Belleville.

Miss Genevieve Reid, who has a position in Peterboro, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Best, of Frankford, spent the past week with the latter's sister, Mrs. Bert Thompkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompkins visited friends in Madoc and Bannockburn for a few days last week.

HOLLOWAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. Townsend spent Sunday in Belleville.

Mr. Geo. Rose and Mr. S. W. Hamilton attended the Masonic banquet in Belleville on Thursday evening.

Mr. a nd Mrs. A. Wanamaker, of Prince Edward, spent Sunday at Mr. Fred Carter's.

Several from here attended quarterly meeting at Marsh Hill on Sunday last.

Mrs. James Mitz and Mrs. Geo. Bennett, of Stirling, spent one day last week with Mrs. Harry Smith.

Miss Vera Rose took tea with Miss Helen Green, Bethel, on Thursday night last.

Mrs. R. Townsend spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. S. Elliott.

HOLLOWAY W. M. S.

(Too late for last week)

The regular meeting of Holloway W. M. S., which had been postponed was held on Tuesday, March 13th, at the home of Miss Bessie Spencer, where a splendid dinner was served at noon. Two quilts were quilted for Miss Huff. Mrs. Morris Rose presided at the meeting, which opened by singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Harry Townsend read the Scripture lesson, psalm 107: 1-20 verses, which was followed by a victrola selection. In absence of Miss Keitha Hough, secretary for Missionary Monthly, Mrs. Geo. Rose was requested to list subscribers. Miss Bessie McMullen, cor. secretary, gave a list of the supplies required by the society for the year. Envelopes for Easter Thankoffering were distributed. It was decided that the Easter Thankoffering be taken at the church on Easter Sunday, April 8th, and that they enlist co-operation of others in the work by having the delegate's report of the Presbyterial repeated, and by having the choir W. M. S. members and the offering be taken by Misses Vera Rose and Myrtle Reid. It was also decided that the Institute take up the study book, the different members taking turns in giving synopsis of it chapter by chapter. Misses Bessie McMullen and Helen Wilson were appointed as programme committee to arrange for next meeting. It was moved and seconded that cor.-secretary send for new supplies, including treasurer's book and forms. The treasurer's report was read. Following the business a very interesting and thorough report of the Presbyterial was given by the delegates, Misses Bessie McMullen and Helen Wilson. Hymn "The Morning Light is Breaking," was sung, after which Mrs. Snell closed the meeting with prayer.

The W. M. S. of Holloway had charge of the Easter service at the church on April 8th. Although the day was stormy and the roads very bad, a good crowd gathered for the service, and the sum of seventeen dollars was received with a number of members to hear from who were unable to be present. The service opened by singing the Doxolgy followed by singing hyms 134, after which Mrs. Leonard Prest led in prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Harry Townsend. The delegate's report of the Presbyterial was then given by Helen Wilson and Bessie McMullen. The choir then rendered an anthem. A splendid address was given by Mrs. S. Gay on "Our Work in India." The next anthem was "O'er Shadowed Are the Skies." Hymn 141 was sung and the meeting closed by repeating the Benediction.

The regular April meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Rose on Wednesday, April 25th, and was opened by singing hymn 224, followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Keitha Hough. After singing hymn 82 the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Percy Eggleton. It was decided to hold a sale of home-cooking on the market at a later date. Mrs. Morris Rose and Mrs. Geo. Rose were appointed a committee to arrange the program for the next three months. Mrs. Morris Rose gave a synopsis of the first chapter in the new study book. It was decided to hold a dinner at the home of Mrs. Arthur Wilson next month. The meeting closed by singing hymn 317.

The Repair Expert speaks his mind

"It isn't what you do today that causes the blowout!"

—it is usually something you have done weeks ago.

Under-inflation—careless parking that pinches the tire walls—hitting rough bumps on high. Balloons deaden the jar. But later—a blowout!

These things can be avoided. To avoid them means dollars off the cost of running your car.

Check up tire pressures every week—We will do it for you. Keep to the exact figures for the size of load of each tire. Ease down when driving over deep ruts and sharp ridges.

Let us inspect your tires once a week. At least twice a season let us take them off the rims and look for inside injuries.

A Dominion Tire will stand a lot of abuse, but a little care will add thousands of miles to its life.

Honeymoon Salad

The newly married couple stopped for lunch at a hotel where the manager was rather assiduous in his attentions. For the tenth time he sailed up. "And what can I get for you now, sir?"

"Some honeymoon salad, please."

"You have me there, sir," replied the manager. 'May I ask what it consists of?"

"Just 'lettuce' alone."

Japanese Advertising

Japanese advertisements are rich in metaphor and quaint humor. Here are a few examples: A Tokio stationer announces that "the paper I sell is as solid as the hide of an elephant." A fishmonger promises to deliver all orders at customers' houses "with the rapidity of a shot fired from a rifle." "My extra special vinegar," a grocer declares, "is as sour as the tongue of the most shrewish mother-in-law." A large multiple shop begs the public to "Come into our stores. You will meet with an overwhelming welcome. Our assistants are as amiable as a father who is endeavoring to marry off his daughters without giving them any dowry."

Toast to the Ladies

"Here's to the ladies, Lord bless 'em."
You recall how we used to help dress 'em;
It was 'Honey, hook this,'
Or 'Dearie, pin that,'
'Please lace my shoes,'
Or 'Straighten my hat.'
A man had to be little John on the spot
In the old-fashioned day, whether willing or not.
"But now, what a joy and a blessing!
We live in the days of sane dressing,
There's nothing to fasten
On silken hose trim,
Nothing to lace up,
And nothing to pin.
And so here's to the ladies, Lord bless 'em!
They're as fair as they were when we dressed 'em."

Give Alberta Coal a Trial

The very reasonable suggestion is offered by J. A. Ellis, fuel controller for Ontario, that the municipalities, school boards and other public bodies in Ontario should try Alberta coal next winter in at least one public building under their control where anthracite has formerly been used. Undoubtedly such a plan would afford an opportunity to thoroughly test the Alberta fuel under conditions that would enable an intelligent comparison to be made, and the suggestion made by the fuel controller should receive the consideration of municipal bodies throughout the Province. It is of the greatest importance to this country that so far as possible we should meet our fuel wants within the borders of Canada, and now that the way is open for the transportation into Ontario of Alberta fuel and care is to be taken to ensure coal of ercellent quality being sent here, everything possible should be done to open a market for the Western fuel. At least we should be willing to give the Canadian article a chance to prove that in quality it compares to the fuel we have been bringing over the border, and for which many millions of Canadian money leave this country every year.

Marmora, April 26.—Half a century ago several weaving looms might have been seen in this vicinity. For example, in the western section of the township of Marmora was the Jones' loom operated at first by the pioneer of that name who had been a weaver by trade in the old country. Then there was the loom used by the late Mrs. Scott, a pioneer settler in North Marmora. Today apparently there is only one loom left of the number and that, it is interesting to note, is set up in Marmora village on the kitchen verandah of Mrs. W. Hilton. To this lady who has long since passed life's allotted span, the loom was bequeathed by an aunt who was in receipt of it from the preceding generation. Mrs. Hilton proved to be an expert at weaving and five years ago, after moving with her late husband into the village from their well known farm in the township, wove thirty-five yards

WATERWAY PROPOSALS

The movement for the deepening of thte St. Lawrence River and its electrification would seem to have entered the domain of practical politics and is likely to become a burning political issue. Uncle Sam has intimated in the plainest possible manner that, so far as he is concerned, "Barkis is willing." Whether, or not, Canada is equally willing is yet to be made known. It certainly looks as if the Federal Government is fairly deeply committed to the proposal, although the final word has not been said and remains either with Parliament or the people. On both questions involved in the issue, namely, the utilization of the water power now running to waste and, if the necessity is real for such development, the deepening of the waterways, there should hardly be room for difference of opinion. Canada will be able to use all the electric power that can be developed from her great river as soon as it can be made available. We must look ahead and provide for our future needs in power. If, as yet seems doubtful, ocean-going ships can find it profitable to make the head of the Lakes their ultimate inland destination, and this involves a worthwhile reduction in grain-carrying rates, then the scheme would seem to be well-conceived. It is the fact of our co-operation with the United States that creates the real difficulty. There should be no objection whatever to working with our neighbours. They are good neighbours and have proved it many times. Our joint interests are so closely interwoven that, for better or worse, though not married, we must make up our minds to get along with each other. We seem to have done so fairly happily thus far. The chief hindrance lies in the uncertainty surrounding the United States Government's ability to satisfactorily implement its treaty obligations. The example of the Chicago water steal, which is sufficient description to identify what is meant, is to the point. Undoubtedly Canada has a grievance against the City of Chicago because of that community's deliberate and defiant attitude in regard to the water it is illegally taking from the Great Lake. But can Canada get redress, restitution, or a stoppage of the steal through Washington channels? It can not. The United States Federal Government seems to be powerless to enforce its treaty obligations in this matter and, if so in this, how could it act any differently in regard to any joint scheme for the deepening of the St. Lawrence waterways and the electrification of the river? To raise these questions indicates the difficult problems facing Canadian statesmanship in the next few years and also some of the questions that must be answered satisfactorily before Canada's consent is given to the waterway proposals.

EMBARGO ON DOGS

The Government will look carefully into the situation caused by the outbreak of rabies in certain parts of Ontario, an a statement on the matter will be made in the House of Commons, Ottawa, on the orders of the day, last Friday. This reply was given in the Commons on Friday by Premier King to a question by W. E. Tummon, (Cons, Hastings South). Mr. Tummon inquired if the Government proposed to comply with the suggestion of the Ontario Department of Health to place an embargo on dogs coming into Canada from the United States. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, was not quite sure whether his department had power automatically to place an embargo on the import of dogs from the American side. Such power was exercisable though, in the case of an outbreak of foot and mouth disease among American cattle. About a year ago, Mr. Motherwell said there had been an outbreak of rabies in Montreal and the Government had handled the situation by the establishment of a restricted area. When the question was first introduced by Mr. Tummon, both the Minister of Agriculture and Hon. J. H. King, Mniister of Health, intimated that neither department could act in the matter of an embargo entirely on its own initiative. This reply brought forth a protest from Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader. "The question is being treated with a great deal of levity," said Mr. Bennett. "This House cannot get a civil answer from the Government as to what it proposes to do to stop the outbreak." Premier King interposed at this juncture to make his announcement that the matter would be considered by the Government.

DAIRY COW'S LIMITATION

The steadiness with which dairy cows produce is in direct proportion to the regularity with which they feed. It is the cow that is always ready and eager for feed at each feeding-time that can be depended upon to give a like amount of milk each day for a long period of time, and thus be profitable to her owner. Consequently it is the feeder who can keep each cow regularly upon her feed who makes a herd profitable. When a cow receives her feed in a concentrated form she may eat enough from which to gain sufficient nourishment to do the work expected of her, but having the capacity of four stomachs she still does not feel satisfied, and if permitted will eat to "fill her food apartments" until she sickens of the feed. Ill results follow, one of which is that she refuses to eat more for a few days, and her production ceases. Every cow has two limits to her feeding qualities. First, there is a limit to her capacity; that is, the total amount of feed she can possibly eat. Secondly, there is a limit to the amount of feed eaten that can be made use of in keeping up the energies of the body and producing milk. All feed supplied between these limits is worse than wasted, because it not only gives no return whatever, but, once in the stomach, it requires extra work for the cow to rid herself of it, thus using up time that she could otherwise be at rest. In common terms, it "burns out the organs of digestion"; on the other hand, when we consider that sixty per cent. of the feed eaten goes to carry on the workings of the different parts of the animal body, we see how necessary it is that the limit of feed given be just reached where economical production stops in order that the cow do her best work.

Effective from April 18th, the road from Marmora to Foxboro has been assumed as a provincial highway. Nothing further than maintenance is anticipated for this year.

IN MEMORIAM

STAPLEY—Sacred to the memory of Luella Annie Stapley, born July 1st, 1916, fell asleep in Jesus, February 26th, 1928:

Luella, thou wast mild and lovely,
Gentle as the summer's breeze;
Now thy hands are crossed above a pulseless breast,
One clasps a rosebud
Spotless white emblem of her who rests,
Two light-blue eyes are closed in slumber, dreamless deep,
A captive in death's cold embrace;
Our precious girl doth sleep.
Yes, darling Luella sleeps and Father's watchful eye
Will guard with jealous care the spot, where she doth lie,
This bud, too frail for earth, groaning 'neath sin's dark stain,
Shall blossom in that better land,
"When Christ shall come to reign."

MRS. ELIZABETH KINGSTON

On April 30th, after an illness of several years duration, which partially disabled her physically, but throughout which her mental vigor was but little impaired, there passed into Eternal Rest one of the noble band of pioneers of Hastings county, Elizabeth Thompson, relict of the late Charles Kingston. Mrs. Kingston's parents were among the sturdy natives of Ireland, who early settled in Hastings county. She was born in Thurlow township nearly seventy-nine years ago, being one of a family of seven, of whom three survive her: David Thompson and Mrs. Sarah Vanderwater, of Moira, and Mrs. Margaret Lennox, of Chicago.

With her husband, Matthew Jones, whose father was an early pioneer of the locality, the nome was founded in the township of her birth, where were born their two daughters, Margaret and Annie, the former now Mrs. Everett Sills, of Foxboro, and the latter Mrs. J. L. Ashley, of Picton. Some few years after the death of Mr. Jones, she married Charles Kingston, of Rawdon township. Mr. and Mrs. Kingston left the homestead and retired to the village of Stirling twenty-six years ago, where they enjoyed the comforts of a well-earned rest. Mr. Kingston died in 1913, since which time Mrs. Kingston has continued to live in the same home, making occasional extended visits with relatives and friends.

The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. W. Barrett, in St. Paul's United Church on Tuesday. A large number of relatives and friends being present to render the last tribute of respect to all that was mortal of one who had so well fulfilled the duties of mother and of friend.

Among the beautiful floral tributes, which have testimony to the affection in which she was held, was one from Bay of Quinte Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Toronto, and one from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Clark, old Toronto friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kingston. With her two daughters, as members of the family, were four of those, to whom, on her marriage to Mr. Kingston, she had become a devoted second mother. George A. Kingston, Commissioner on the Workmen's Compensation Board, and Harry Kingston, both of Toronto; John Kingston, of Tweed, and Mrs. Stanley G. Patterson, of Merrickville. Two other members of this family, Dr. Chas. Kingston, of Grand Forks, B. C., and Mrs. Hillis Wright, of Vancouver, B.C., were unable to be present.

The late Mrs. Charles Kingston was a very choice and beautiful spirited woman. Her love for, and her loyalty to her home and her dear ones was very pronounced and the evidence of a great mother heart were constantly seen in her unselfish service and her devotion to their higher and finer interests. Such serving is always sure to bring a harvest and that harvest is visible to-day in the love of a family who rise up to call her blessed. Her church was, to her, a city of refuge, the tabernacle of the Most High. To the very last possible day that she could attend, she was in her pew with the same eagerness to hear the word of God which had been to her for such a long time the very Bread of Life. The service and fellowship of the church always meant an uplift for her and when she could no longer attend public worship she continued to find comfort and help from her Bible which was well worn and always near her.

Late Mrs. M. Gallivan

Mrs. Michael Gallivan passed away at her home, ninth concession, Sidney, near Stirling, last Thursday, aged 62 years, 17 days. The deceased had suffered a paralytic stroke about two weeks which was the cause of her sudden demise. Mrs. Gallivan was born in Marysville on April 8th, 1866, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Leary. About thirty-three years ago she moved to this section of the country and has resided here ever since. She is survived by one son and six daughters: Mrs. Harry Stapley, Miss Elizabeth D. Gallivan, John V. Gallivan, Stirilng; Mrs. H. D. Critchfield, Mrs. H. E. Chastain, Mrs. R. P. Farricy, Syracuse, N.Y.; Mrs. L. P. Kehoe, Detroit, Mich. Also two brothers and one sister: Daniel O'Leary, Merrill, Mich.; James O'Leary, Minnesota; Mrs. J. F. Gallagher, Syracuse, N.Y. The funeral service was held in St. James R. C. church, Stirling, on Monday morning, when Rev. Father Corrigan pronounced Requiem Mass. The remains were interred in Stirling R. C. cemetery. The pall-bearers were R. P. Farricy, H. E. Chastain, H. J. Stapley, M. R. Stapley, H. D. Critchfield, L. P. Kehoe.

LATE MRS. WM. FRENCH

Mrs. Wm. French, a native daughter of Rawdon township, passed away at the home of Mr. Harry Fanning, Rawdon, on Monday, in her 79th year. Mrs. French, whose maiden name was Catharine Arzelia Hogle, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hogle, old Rawdon settlers, had been bedfast since last December, suffering from old age ailments. She was born in Rawdon on the farm now occupied by Mr. H. Fanning, on October 25th, 1849. In 1889 she was married to Mr. French who died in 1900. After her marriage she moved with her husband to the farm in the 9th concession, Sidney, now occupied by Mr. Arthur Vandervoort. Following Mr. French's death she returned to her father's home and resided there for eleven years later, since that time residing alone until four years ago when she took up residence with her nephew, Mr. Harry Fanning. The deceased was a Baptist in religion, but attended the United church. The funeral service was held yesterday morning in Wellman's church, with the pastor, Rev. F. G. Joblin, conducting the service, assisted by Rev. Shaw, of Burnbrae. The remains were interred in Wellman's cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Thos. Snarr, Leslie Maybee, Edward Potts, Butler Rupert, John Snarr, Blake Potts.

Early Sowers

Messrs. Arthur and Ed. Pyear, who reside in the 9th concession of Sidney, about three miles west of Stirling, are the first to sow any grain in that vicinity, having each sown eight eight acres of oats on Friday, April 27th. George McCurdy, out the Ridge Road, near the Huntingdon boundary, is the first to commence seeding in that direction. No doubt the work will become more general this week. There has been some complaint that a great deal of clover seeding was destroyed by the continued freezing weather at night.

A recent revision of the Customs regulations now enables tourists to bring their sporting equipment or cameras into Canada without leaving a deposit on account of their dutiable value with the Canadian Customs officers at the border. At the present time the change in the regulations will effect particularly the Pacific Coast, where golf and spring sports are in full swing.

Vancouver.—Over 100 miles of trackage serving the ports of the Vancouver district will shortly have been laid by the Canadian Pacific Railway, according to a statement issued by the general superintendent of the district. The trackage is designed to take care of a steady and normal growth in trade through Vancouver and also to handle expansion in westward grain movement which this year has reached the record of 53,000,000 bushels.

John Walter, co-proprietor of the London Times with Major the Hon. J. J. Astor, arrived in Montreal lately where he addressed a gathering under the auspices of the National Council of Education. Mr. Walter is covering the Dominion over Canadian Pacific Railway lines and will make addresses in most of the larger cities. He is the fifth member of the family, being a direct descendant of the famous John Walter, to be guide of this newspaper since 1785.

MADOC JUNCTION

A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Gallivan, of Oak Hills. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Congratulations from Madoc Junction friends to Mr. and Mrs. R. Chambers.—Raymond has a smile that won't come off.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Eggleton, of Stirling, visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gay on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Eggleton and Mr. Albert Eggleton were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett's.

The W. M. S. May meeting has been changed and instead of being held at Mrs. Geo. Eggleton's will be held at Mrs. Harry Clarke's.

Master Donald Andrews returned to his home in Peterboro last Friday after spending the winter with his grandparents here.

Zion's Hill W. M. S. have invited Eggleton W. M. S. to visit them on May 3rd.

Madoc Junction friends extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones on the arrival of a baby daughter.

Several from here attended the service at West Huntingdon on Sunday evening and report an excellent sermon.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Mrs. Nancy Fair returned here to spend the summer months with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White, having spent the winter with Mr. and Mrs. George Heagle, Wellmans.

On Monday the body of Mr. Manley Wescott was buried in the south cemetery and last week the remains of the late Will Rowe were brought from Eldorado and were interred here beside his loving wife in the north cemetery. The two bodies of Mrs. Rowe and Mr. Wescott had been reposing in the vault since their demise this winter.

Mr. Ed. McKeows's mother is moving her household effects in part of Ed's house and will reside here in future. We welcome her to our midst.

League was held Friday evening under the leadership of Miss Edna Sharp. The 23rd psalm was repeated together and Mr. Kenneth Sharp delighted the audience with a violin selection, accompanied on the piano by the leader. Mr. Kenneth Smith contributed a delightful "Saw" solo and two interesting contests were put on, entitled "Advertising" and "Musical."

Master Ormel MacMullen spent Friday evening with Master Malcolm MacMullen, it being the occasion of the latter's birthday.

The Misses Luella and Winnie Sharp were guests of Misses Elda and Marguerite White on Sunday.

Were you one of the privileged ones who enjoyed the beautiful sunset Saturday evening? The sky was a deep red at first, tinging off slowly to all the colours of the rainbow. Words are inadequate to express the beauty of all this radiance of nature spreading forth in the sky. Truly it was a picture painted by a Divine artist.

The cemetery at the south of the church was replowed last week, by Mr. Edward Montgomery, and others are planning to help with the discing, marking of plots and finishing touches which are needed to make it a real beauty spot. This ground was dedicated for sacred purposes over fifty years ago and a number of the pioneers of our community are buried there. Later friends moved away and the place went into decline, however a few years ago a few of the energetic citizens took the matter in hand and they have cut the brush, built a new fence and ploughed the ground several times. This year it is hoped to have it seeded, trees planted, plots laid out and monuments replaced and then it will be a real beauty spot. Situated as it is on the top of the hill and drained from the four sides it is always dry and it is certainly a well located spot for the purpose. The view from both sides of the hill, along the Stirling-Campbellford highway, is very plain and when it is completed will surely rival the north burying ground which has been nicely kept up for a number of years. Anyone who has relatives buried in the south cemetery and who are interested in having their dead properly cared for, may forward their donations to those in charge and it will be used to further beautify and keep green this sacred spot. A few of the men have gladly given liberally of their time to put the ground in shape and now it is up to those at a distance to furnish the money to carry on the good work.

Mr. Elgie Joblin attended the High School Oratorical contest in Stirling and awarded the senior and junior championship cups. At the same time he gave a short address on farm life. Among the orators was Miss Erma Andrews, of Bethel.

Miss Jessie Brown and her brother, of Seymour West, spent Sunday with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson.

League will be held on Thursday evening under the direction of the 1st vice, Mr. Elgie Joblin. A change was necessary so that as many as possible might avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Miss Evelyn Mitchell in Stirling Friday evening.

Mrs. George Weaver and Mrs. Frank Smith were guests of Mrs. Sanford Hubble on Tuesday.

Mr. Ludbrook, representing the Fuller Brush Co., has been makisg his annual calls in our locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers spent Sunday afternoon in Belleville, with Miss Letha Sharp at the hospital. They report her gaining nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Greenly, at Havelock on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. French, an aged resident died on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fanning, Wellmans.

We wish to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Melville Donnan, of West Huntingdon. Another little boy arrived at their home on Tuesday. Mrs. James Sharp has been spending the past three weeks with her daughter.

Misses Lulu Johnson and Helen Smith and Mr. Elgie Joblin and Rev. E. G. Joblin attended the special league services recently held in Bridge street church, Belleville, and report an excellent meeting.

The community extend their heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton, of Stirling, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in the new assembly hall on Monday evening. May they be spared to celebrate many more.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Pyear and family, Miss Nina Carlisle and Mrs. Henry Farrel and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pyear Sunday evening.

Sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. Charlie Johnston as he has pneumonia, but we wish him a speedy recovery.

A very enjoyable evening was spent with the West Huntingdon young people on Tuesday evening, as our young people visited them with a good attendance of about 46. The meeting opened by singing hymn 384, and prayer. Mr. Barrett gave the Scripture lesson, Romans 10:7-13. Hymn 154 was sung. Mr. Russel Hubble gave the topic. The orchestra favoured the gathering with enjoyable musical selections. This was followed by a reading by Mrs. A. Brooks. The mixed quartette sang. Miss Dorothy Thompson gave a monologue. Mr. Jark Armstrong gave current events. A number of the junior girls sang a song. Mrs. Russel Hubble gave a reading, followed by a selection by the male quartette. Miss Alma Brown gave a monologue. More music by the orchestra. Mrs. A. Pyear gave the contest. Closed by singing hymn 132. Lunch was served.

Miss Edna Sharp, of Mount Pleasant, journeyed to West Huntingdon with the young people of Carmel.

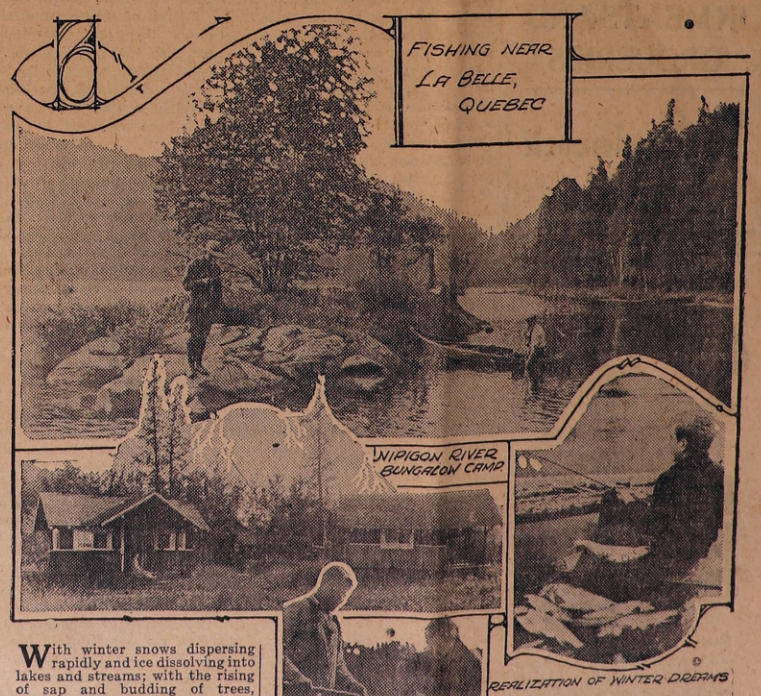
Trout and Salmon Await Anglers' Flies



With winter snows dispersing rapidly and ice dissolving into lakes and streams; with the rising of sap and budding of trees, memories of anglers awaken picturing streams where one would wish to fish, days

"When even the deep blue heavens look glad,
And gladness breathes from the blossoming ground."

The waters of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario have all their devoted followers waiting for the ice to disappear. These anglers are always eager to try new fishing grounds, and they will have new waters this year, according to Wm. Barber Haynes, writing in "Outdoor Life and Recreation." The latest bid for the favor of the sportsman is the opening of part of that famous salmon river, the Restigouche, to any sportsman who can pay a sum for a day's fishing. Heretofore, it has been impossible for anybody to fish the Restigouche unless he rented fishing water for a term of several years. Now the province has made it possible for men in ordinary circumstances to put up money enough for the realization of anglers' dreams—a week's fishing for the salmon of the Restigouche in New Brunswick.

The season for salmon in New Brunswick is from May 24—September 30. In the Restigouche River and its tributaries, such fishing is permissible from April 1 to August 15 only; the limit is 30 per week. The salmon season in Nova Scotia is from February 1 to August 31.

Quebec's trout streams are many and widespread, and are easily reached making them deservedly popular both with Canadian and American fishermen. Satisfying sport is to be had in the streams in the Lake Edward district north of Quebec City. The Province of Quebec has a wealth of attractions for the sportsman. No portion of the North American continent is more richly endowed with fish and game. The innumerable rivers, streams, lakes and great stretches of forest offer an almost bewildering selection to the man planning a hunting, fishing or canoeing trip. The trout season in Quebec province is from May 1 to September 30 for speckled trout, and from December 2 to October 14 for the lake trout.

Ontario's most celebrated trout country embraces rivers and streams north of Lake Superior whose names many anglers are already familiar with. In this section special bungalow camps are at your service, operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway, they afford every advantage of an outdoor life just slightly lightening the hardships especially for those who wish to have greater comforts than a tent and camp outfit affords. The season here opens May 1. Distant fields are always green, and distant streams appear more green, while pools grow darker as imagination pictures fishing days in spring.

CANADIAN EMBASSIES IN OTHER COUNTRIES

(By Irene Bailey, second prize winner in the Stirling High School Oratorical Contest)

Mr. Chairman, ladies, and gentlemen: I have chosen to speak in this contest on the subject "Canadian Embassies in other Countries." This subject needs little introduction as it has already been discussed in parliament and will be further discussed as the session progresses. I am going to try to outline to you both the advantages and disadvantages of the establishment of Canadian Embassies in other capitals.

First of all, there seems to have been a very great misapprehension in past years with respect to the use of the term ambassador and the term minister. The term minister is used between Great Britain and Canada. (Canada will have a minister in Great Britain, Great Britain will have a minister in Canada). A leading authority on International Law says: "Diplomatic envoys accredited to a state differ in class. The distinction between the two classes arose in the middle of the seventeenth century, and they were generally recognized as, extraordinary envoys called ambassadors, and ordinary envoys called residents; ambassadors being received with higher honours and taking precedence over the other envoys. Disputes arose conserning precedence and at last the assembled powers at the Vienna Congress established three different classes: first, ambassadors, second ministers plenipotentiary and envoys extraordinary, third charges d'affairs. Later a fourth class was formed, ministers resident to rank between ministers plenipotentiary and charges d'affairs. Let us go a step further and see who may be accredited, and under what conditions men may be accredited from one state to another. First there must be a state, and a state is defined internationally to consist of a people. There mnst secondly be a country in which the people have settled down. There must thirdly be a government and fourthly and lastly a sovereign government. Sovereignty in the narrowest and strictest sense of the term includes independence within and without the borders of the country. That is the definition given in international law, and it is not something that can be set at naught for the use of terms that have no meaning. It is highly important that the terms be used in the sense which diplomatic usage and custom and established precedents have given to them down through the ages. There must be no confusion; for these are words used in the intercourse between civilized states and they are exactly defined by the authorities." Up to the present time Canada has appointed only one ambassador and it is undoubtedly the success of the Hon. Vincent Massey as our representative in Washington which has prompted the suggestion that the appointment of ambassadors be extended to other countries. Canada has indeed been fortunate in her first choice, and the quiet dignity, culture, and business training which Mr. Massey has brought to the position have already been commented upon most favourably. The Hon. Mr. King says: "The opening of the legation in Washington has been a helpful factor in the economy of this nation, and helpful also in the larger affairs of the British Empire. I think the opening of legations at both Ottawa and Washington by the Canadian and United States governments is an event worthy of mention, and I feel that the experience that we have already had of the services of these legations is sufficient to convince us that the step taken was a wise and eminently practical one, and will prove increasingly helpful as the years go by.

"Too often in Canada political capital made a matter of party politics and we would do well to remember that while the appointment to Washington was made during the present administration, the office was created during the administration of Sir Robert Borden. Britain approved of the establishment of the legation in Washington because it had the full approval of Premier Baldwin, and the secretary of state for the Dominions Mr. Amery. And now the British ambassador and our representative in Washington are working without the slightest sign of friction." Among many matters that have engaged the attention of our ambassador at Washington are the following:

The many problems connected with boundary waterways and international fishery questions.

Numerous questions connected with the movement of persons across the international border, and especially the situation created in Canadian border towns by the alteration of the United States regulations in 1927. This question occupied the attention of the legation for many months, until a satisfactory settlement was reached.

Many questions connected with the U. S. trade and tarriff between the two countries and other questions of international importance. In general the protection at the interests of Canadian citizens in a very wide range of matters principally connected with immigration, deportation, arrest and imprisonment, settlement of estates and claims against the government of the U. S. Reference might also be made to the part played by the legation in connection with international visits and ceremonies. It was concerned in bringing about the flight of Colonel Lindburg to Ottawa during the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and was responsible for many of the arrangements for the official celebration at the opening of the Peace Bridge over the Niagara River.

Canada has a high commissioner in Great Britain, Mr. Larkin by name. He is regarded by many people as an ambassador and by others as a trade officer and he serves Canada well in many capacities. However his office is almost wholly for social relations rather than business. The question now is whether or not we should maintain in London side by side if need be with an ambassador's office, an office in which business considerations alone will prevail. We, as Canadians, are not taking advantage from the business standpoint of the situation as it exists in London. The office of our high commissioner is purely ostenatious and the time has arrived when we must determine whether we will use the money which we have invested, for the purpose of business and propaganda for emigrants, or whether we will use it for the dignity and magnificence of a Canadian ambassador at the centre of the Empire.

Prior to the war the position of high commissioner was more commercial than diplomatic, but as the years have gone by most of our real problems, those which have caused the most concern, and occupied most of the time of ministers and officials are those which have risen directly or indirectly out of the war. So, during the war the diplomatic side of the position developed and the high commissioner came to have personal contact with the ministers of the crown in England. Since the commercial relations have given way to diplomatic relations it is clear that what we need in Great Britain is a representative who will act as a go between for the Canadian and British Governments as well as to foster trade within the British Empire.

Perusal of British editorial opinion shows that the suggestion of an exchange of ambassadors between Great Britain and Canada has been very well received. Acquiescence is based on a reason which would not first have occurred to Canadians. Attention was recently drawn to obvious apprehensions that a group of plenipotentaries from various parts of the Birtish Empire treading on each others heels in foreign capitals would complicate and embarass the foreign relations of Great Britain and the various dominions. The idea of a British envoy in Canada is supported by most British responsible newspapers as a possible safeguard against this danger. The London Times says that the most essential service that such an envoy can render is that of a channel between the Canadian Government and the foreign policy. The responsibilities of the foreign office and those of the Colonial and Dominion offices overlap at every point, yet each is clearly too often ignorant of what the other is doing; and there has always been too great a tendency to leave the Dominions out of count altogether in the discussion of foreign policy. Nothing is better calculated to bring them consistently into the picture of international politics than the establishment in Ottawa of a first rate representative of the British Government with a broad outlook on the affairs of the world.

We can understand that an embassy in Paris where they are familiar with our institutions might be a success. The present agency there has discharged its usual duties in obtaining information required by the governnent departments and individuals, in regard to trade and other matters, details of French legislation and regulations affecting Canadian interests, and in smoothing out difficulties with the local authorities on behalf of Canadian importers and travellers. It provides a much appreciated centre to which Canadian visitors may address themselves, for assistance in obtaining advice as to conditions of residence, travel, passports and other local matters in which they may be interested. The increasing importance of the political and trade interests of Canadians in France and the continent generally have made it desirable to enlarge the scope of the agency and to establish a Canadian legation at Paris, and the French govenrment has announced its intention of establishing a French legation in Canada. I have dealt with the question of a Canadian representative in Washington, in London and in Paris where we already have offices to take care of the trade matters, and to me it would not appear to be a serious step to enlarge the duties of our representatives in these centres. For in these centres, Canada's position within the Empire is quite well understood. But when it comes to dealing with foreign countries, with people unaccustomed to our institutions, the implications are such as to leave a wrong impressios on the public mind, and those implications involve responsibilities of a character which this country is not ready to accept. What are the implications with respect to setting up diplomatic relations in Tokyo? The orientals are highly specialized in international law and they would be most likely to consider our representative as coming from an entirely separate state. They would deal with Canada in all matters relating to property, protection, navy and army and all other matters that are involved. So when it comes to appointing a representative in such countries as China and Japan the matter must be looked upon in a different light. If our ministers in these countries are to take care of commerce and trade only, all well and good, but if it means the setting up of an expensive legation it might be well to give the matter our serious consideration. An ambassador for social relations would not improve status of Canada. The setting up of an independent legation might easily be interpretated by the people of other countries unfamiliar with our affairs as the weakening of the ties of the Empire whereas i t is well for the world to know that the British Empire is now as closely united as at any time in its history.

General News of Interest

Mr. Orvil Trumble, of Marmora, is confined to his home through illness.

Mr. Andrew Milne, of Menie, has been quite ill, and will be confined to bed for some weeks yet.

Tweed News—Mr. Geo. Whitty, of Stirling, visited his daughter, Mrs. Felix Rashotte, here this week.

Mr. William Kellar, of Madoc, has purchased the house and lot on Elgin street, that village, formerly owned by Miss Margaret Kerr, of Tweed.

The Rev. S. E. Morton, of St. Luke's church, Kingston, has purchased a lot at Crowe Lake and contemplates the erection of a cottage there this summer.

Rev. T. H. Stanley, M.A., B.D., rector of St. John's church, Havelock, has been appointed rector of All Saints' church, Cannington, and St. Paul's church, Beaverton, by the Bishop of Toronto. Rev. and Mrs. Stanley and family will move to Cannington on or about May 20th.

On Monday, the Canadian National Railways started an electric train into operation between Kingston and Tweed. This train is comprised of one passenger and one baggage car and takes the place of the steam train but will run the same schedule, leaving Kingstos at 2.35.

Alex Linn, of Menie, met with a serious accident last week while working beneath his car. In some way the car moved off the jack, allowing the weight to crush Mr. Linn's collarbone. The injury was very painful, and it will be some time before he will be able to work again.

Mr. Robt. Tedford, of Norwood, has purchased from Mr. Hugh McDonald, the latter's undertaking and furniture business at Hastings. Mr. Tedford took possession on Tuesday this week. He will still retain the services of Mr. McKechnie, who has been acting as manager of the Hastings store for Mr. McDonald.

Robert White, Principal of Trenton High School, and one of that town's most prominent citizens, died on Friday following an illness of some seven or eight months. The late Mr. White accepted the principalship of Trenton High School some twelve years ago, having being formerly identified with the staff of the Deseronto High School. Services were held at his late home on King street on Monday.

An aged lady, Mrs. James McCoy, of Rawdon Township, wha has been visiting at the home of Mr. John Downard, Marmora Township, was found lying unconscious at the bottom of the cellar steps at six o'clock on Saturday evening. Dr. Thomson, of Marmora, and Dr. J. Holdcroft, of Havelock, were summoned, and gave as their opinion that she had suffered a seizure while descending the steps.

More keepers of apiaries in the county will be hailed into court in the near future unless the regulations regarding the Foul Brood Act are complied with. Last year a number of beekeepers were brought to court under this act that is not having their hives inspected for foul brood and for not having a license. Excuses at that time were accepted on account of the act just coming into force but now the beekeepers have a chance to know the regulations and will be held responsible.

Wesley Keller, township of Elzevir, appeared before Magistrate Casement, of Madoc, on Monday, charged with having an illicit still contrary to the Inland Revenue Act and also with having liquor contrary to the L. C. A. On both charges the man pleaded guilty. On the first charge he was fined $200.00 and costs or in default six months and on the second charge $100.00 and costs or in default one month. The fines were paid into court and the accused released from custody.

Henry Herrington, Madoc, was arrested Wednesday night of last week, by provincial officer Hill, and on Thursday before Justice of the Peace, John Newton, was charged with having liquor contrary to the L.C.A. A remand for one week was requested and granted. Bail was set but none came forward to take the man from custody. After Herrington's arrest in Marmora he was placed in the village lock-up. The officer had other business to transact for his department and when he returned he found the accused trying to make a get-away, it is said, through the stove pipe hole that leads into the cell. The officer, fearing the man would escape during the night, put him in a car and took him to the county jail. The same officer visited the home of Wesley Keller in Elzevir Township and upon search of his property found a first-class still in the cellar. A barrel of "wash" was found in an upstairs room. He was arrested and taken to Madoc and charged before Magistrate Casement. A remand was granted until Saturday. He was charged under the L.C.A. and also the Inland Revenue Act.

Mrs. Simeon Fox, of Madoc, was taken seriously ill this weep, and had to be removed to Belleville General Hospital for an operation on Monday afternoon. Latest reports she is recovering as rapidly as can be expected.

Those passing and obtaining honors in the arts course at Queens University are Dorothy C. Graves and Harvey A. Graves, Kingston. Miss Graves made honors, Reginald Arclen Blakely, B.A., Sc., Belleville, Wilma Annie Pattison, Tweed. Special prize in Spanish, Noreen Hubbs, Picton. Prize in English, Helen Hubbs, Picton.

Owing to the late season a number of farmers in Havelock district have run out of feed for their stock and are forced to buy until there is sufficient growth for pasture. Plowing and a little cultivating on high land is all that has been done so far, while last year at this time nearly all of the spring's work twas completed and there was plenty of pasture for the young cattle.

Constable George Scott, who was added to the Belleville police force some months ago, has resigned from his position and the resignation has been accepted by the Police Commissioners. Mr. Scott completed his tenure of office on Monday night and leaves with the well wishes of future success by the other members of the force. It is understood that Mr. Scott has accepted a more lucrative position. While on the force the officer made many friends and at all times was steadfast in his duties.—Belleville Ontario.

James Cook, cheese exporter, of Belleville, escaped serious injury by a miracle shortly before the noon hour on Tuesday when he was struck by a car driven by George Clapp, of Sidney. Mr. Cook turned a complete somersault after being struck and landed on his feet and knees on the pavement. Being a man of large proportions the shock was quite heavy. Mr. Clapp was not driving fast at the time and brought his car to a quick stop after the accident. The car was travelling north on Front street, that city, and two cars were proceeding south about the same time. Mr. Cook came out of his office on the east side of Front street and started to cross the road to conduct some business. He stepped out from behind a parked car at the curb directly in the path of the travelling vehicle. The fender struck him and rolled him up over the radiator and down to the pavement. The fender was slightly bent from the impact. The parties amicably adjusted the settlement.

Before Magistrate Casement, at Madoc on Saturday, Samuel Sargent was convicted on several charges and sentenced to spend from one to two years in the Ontario Reformatory. Sargent pleaded guilty to the charge of beating a horse to death, and for this brutal act was sentenced to serve three months. Provincial Officer McCoy had laid the information which led up to the arrest of Sargent several weeks ago, but had not been able to locate the man. Last week, however, he was apprehended and it was proved that he had broken into several hunting lodges in the township of Grimsthorpe and stolen traps, rifles, and various other articles. Magistarte Casement gave the prisoner a scathing rebuke in the matter of the beating of the horse, stating that no one who styles himself a man would attack a poor defenseless creature. Provincial Officer Hill also had several L. C. A. violators in court and their cases were heard. George Johnson was fined $10 for being drunk, while Harry Doughty, David Haslip, Albert Bailey and James Blakely were each fined $15 for consuming liquor in a public place.

SPRINGBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Switzer, of Omemee, were weekend guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thompson.

Mrs. Percy Smith returned to Wellington on Monday, after spending a couple of days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thompson.

Miss Julia Meagher is in Oshawa this week visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Gibson.

Mr. Ray Jones, of Wellington, was in town on Monday, on a business trip.

Mrs. McCoy, who has been staying at Mr. John Downard's, of Marmora township, was taken suddenly ill on Friday night. Dr. Holcroft, of Havelock, was summoned and found she was suffering from paralytic stroke. She has had two more and her chances of recovery are very doubtful.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacConnell and little Marion were guests of the former's parents on Sunday.

Mrs. James Nickle, of Malone, spent a day last week with her brother, Mr. Chris. Bateman.

Two young fishermen, Lorne and Harry Bateman, caught six speckled beauties Tuesday morning, 1st May, that weighed four and one-half pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Downey, of Whitelake, spent a day here with friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Fitzgerald spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson.

Quebec.—When the 1928 shipping season opened here April 22, the Canadian Pacific St. Lawrence fleet supplied fifty per cent. of the steamers that docked with S.S. Montclare, Montroyal and Melita. The three ships carried in round figures 2300 immigrants aboard mostly of British stock and destined to farms in the West.

International Advertising Convention and Exposition to be held at Detroit, July 8-12, is already attracting wide notice and will contain under one roof everything relating to organized advertising in every phase. Advertising men from overseas will attend and bookings are being made on Canadian Pacific liners from Great Britain and Europe well ahead of time in view of the large demand for travel that will arise.

Sixty-five miles of salmon fishing in the Cains River, New Brunswick, were enjoyed recently by five anglers from Chicago and the U. S. Middle West and by a party of New York newspapermen, including W. McGeehan, internationally known New York Herald-Tribune sports writer. Both parties were staying for about a fortnight in the care of Harry Allen, well known New Brunswick guide. They travelled Canadian Pacific to their fishing destination.

Okanagan.—Word is received from Washington that the Okanagan project, during the last year, had a higher per acre yield of apples and a consequent higher acre return to the grower, than any government irrigation project in the United States. The local project, with 3,567 acres in apples, has a yield of 35,142,750 pounds, or 9,852 pounds to the acre, a yield which brought the growers a return of $1,030,854, or the high record price of $289 an acre. On the Yakima project the average yield was 9,602 pounds to the acre or at the rate of $246.16 per acre. The nearest approach to the Washington record was on the Sun river project in Montana, where the average was $153.33 an acre, followed by the Boise project, with a price of $148.

Ottawa.—The Department of Agriculture has issued a report showing how the Canadian "Moth" plane is combatting wheat rust—how the Canadian Air Force, the Federal Department of Agriculture and the pathological plant of the Manitoba Agricultural College at Winnipeg are uniting to fight the enemy. The report says: "The work consists mainly in the exposure of slides at different altitudes and at different locations. These aeroplane exposures attempt to collect from altitudes of from 1,000 to 5,000 feet the date of the earliest appearance of rust spores, the region over which they first appear, the rate at which the spore content of the air increases over various regions, the visibility of spores caught at these higher altitudes and the relation of certain environmental and climatic factors to the rate of development and spread of rust. Tightly stoppered bottles are used, containing wooden paddles to which are attached microscopic slides lightly smeared with vaseline. These slides are exposed for 15 minutes at varying altitudes; the slides replaced in the bottles and then returned to the Government laboratory at Winnipeg."

"It was a delightful surprise" — writes a Toronto subscriber — "to find that I could talk to my Mother as far away as Sarnia for only 55 cts, by the Evening Rate. I'm sure few people realize how very little it costs to telephone even to points as far distant as Sarnia, by the Evening Rate, and you would do the public a service by emphasizing this point."

This is only one of many instances showing that many people do not know how low the Evening Rate on Long Distance is. Call up our Manager and ask him the Evening Rate to some point you are particularly interested in. You, too, will probably be surprised.

obituary:—Born of a sturdy and loyal race and reared in an environment of toil and honesty, you have developed into the type of man of which the country has too few, loyal to your creed, whether it be religious, political or moral, you have enjoyed the confidence of everyone about you, for your courage in supporting the thing you believed to be right. A neighbor woman was heard to say "We would not like to lose Mr. Morton. I do not know what we would do without him." That was a quarter of a century ago and they still are of that same opinion. In speaking of our family one day I made the remark that every family tree needed pruning and that there were some Mortons that I was not proud of. An old man standing by, who had lived in the community all his life, remarked: "It would be much better for this country if there were more of them." The inference was, that, as citizens, the Morton family were above the average, and you, sir, are the patriarch of that family. We are somewhat clanish, but we may be excused when we trace our history back to Ireland, thence to the Lowlands of Scotland where many of them still dwell, and by the way, a Morton once was regent of Scotland. In your family life you have been most happy and your partner has been loyal in every way. When I look at her I think of the old legend of woman: "Woman was made from the rib of man, taken from his body to be part of him, from his side to be his equal, from underneath his arm to be protected by him and from near his heart to be loved and cherished by him." These words were not uttered by Sylvia Pankhurst or Agnes McPhail, but to my mind they picture woman in her most beautiful and honoured sphere. Your married life has been almost humanly perfect and has brought you to this interesting period in peace and contentment. You have stood side by side through hardship and trouble, each giving comfort to the other and our earnest wish is that fou may live long to enjoy the fruits of a life well spent. When the grain is ripe it is spoken of as golden and you have reached the golden period of ripe experience, and your friends and kinsmen gathered here, present to you a golden token of their love and esteem. As you pass along, may it shelter you from the storm and winds that blow until the journey's end at the Golden Gate.

Mrs. Frank Treverton,
William J. Johnston,
Mrs. W. B. Totton,
C. L. Hogle.

The groom made an appropriate reply in his genial and sincere manner.

The Spencer orchestra, a musical organization composed of Mr. Spencer, his two sons and two daughters and personal friends of the happy couple, rendered a number of fine selections which were heartily encored. Miss Evelyn Barnum, a member of the family, gave exquisitely a piano solo while Miss Harter from Herchimer, N.R., there especially for the occasion, gave two very delightful readings. The twins, Jean and James Totton, gave a parody on "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnett," which brought forth gales of laughter from the assembly. The song was as follows:

(Parody to tune of Put on Your Old Grey Bonnett).

Composed in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton's golden wedding anniversary, April 30th, 1928.

On the village house verandah, there
sat Sarah and Alexander,
Thinking of the days gone by.
Said he: "Dearie don't be weary, you were always bright and cheery,
But a tear, dear, dims your eye."
Said she: "They're tears of gladness,
Alex, they're not tears of sadness,
It is fifty years ago today since we were wed."
Alex's eyes they seemed to brighten,
and his heart at once did lighten
As he turned to her and said:

(CHORUS)

"Put on your very nicest bonnet with the gayest ribbons on it,
And we'll walk down the street a little way,
Let us go over yonder, to the new hall
we'll wander,
On our golden wedding day.

Very soon they reached the building, and the place seemed to be filling
As they entered in the hall,
The big hall was all in splendor, and their eyes were very tender,
As they saw their dear friends all.
Said she: "I'm quite excited," Alex
says: "Now don't be frightened,
Fifty years ago today you kept your head."
So they smile and look quite nifty hardly seems the years are fifty,
Alex's glad now that he said.

(CHORUS)

Interspersed with these selections were presentations to the bride and groom of fifty years ago. To start the presentation Master Burton Morton, a grandson, carried to the head table a beautiful basket of carnations. Mrs. Mary Meiklejohn followed closely with a basket of daffodils. Clinton Hogle, a close friend and distant relative, presented an electric plate. Mr. Alex Morton was then called on to make a speech and the rafters rang with "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." In introducing the guests of the evening Rev. Mr. Barrett spoke feelingly of the fine lives of the two which were being honoured. They are starting on the second fifty years with more knowledge than they had of the first fifty. "There are still great prospects for service although their lives have been filled with helpfulness for others. We won't always have these two with us so they should be shown every love in the twilight of their lives."

Mr. Morton stated at the outset of his address that he could not make a speech. "Words," he said, "utterly failed to express the gratitude of my good wife and myself for this wonderful reception and the beautiful gifts. I am very glad I have so many friends. I have always had friends and no one thinks more of them than I do and I am always glad to meet them. As for my bride, I never rued the day when I went down to the Front of Sidney and we were made one. We have had our pleasures and sorrows together and she always accompanied me excepting when I attended the Orange Lodge." This latter sally brought forth laughter as Mr. Morton is a firm Orangeman and strong Conservative in politics.

C. U. Clancy was called on for a few remarks representing the residents of the 7th concession of Rawdon. The speaker stated he found Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton "foursquare" in all their lives. "I have known Alex all my life and cannot sound his praise too high. In the church, in the business life of the community and in his social life at home he was always the same. His advice was eargerly sought on great questions and he was missed from the community. The latch key of the door was always on the outside and many the fine meal that has been served to journeyers through. His word was his bond in all matters," said Mr. Clancy in conclusion. Rev. F. G. Joblin spoke for the former ministers of Rawdon circuit where Mr. and Mrs. Morton labored for God so many years. The minister stated they were helpers of a high order and their home was one of goodly fellowship. They have left a monument in their son, Charles, who is following closely in his parents' footsteps. Two messages, one from Rev. and Mrs. Clarke and the other from Rev. and Mrs. Connell, formerly of the Rawdon circuit, were read to the gathering both expressing the hope that many happy years of wedded bliss would still be their portion.

Alderman Charles Hyde, of Belleville, represented the Finkle branch of the union and extended felicitations to the guests. "Of course," said the speaker, "he could make no mistake when he chose a Finkle for a wife." He spoke of the many happy visits he had made to the homestead and wished for them many more years of happiness. Clinton Hogle, of Trenton, who was present at the charivari, and now the only one left of four who were there on that occasion, spoke next. "One of the party," said the speaker, "had a gun, another a good voice, the third a cowbell and I brought up the rear with a fife playing "The Girl I Left Behind Me." I have spent many good times with Alex and Sarah Morton and hope to spend many more."

Mr. W. H. Morton, of Belleville, stated it was a privilege and a great honour to extend felicitations to the bride and groom of fifty years ago. "They are held in the highest respect by all classes and they are a worthy couple and it is the wish of the whole assembly that they long be spared to enjoy the fruits of a well spent life. They have been a benefit to society and a joy and comfort to those they hold most dear." Robinson Morton and Reeve Thomas Montgomery also spoke a few words extending congratulations.

Mr. Morton also took the honours for being the eldest man present, while the five months' old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McAdam was the youngest.

Following the program refreshments were served and a social time spent. Seated at the head table were intimate relatives of the two family branches. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morton, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Barrett, Rev. F. G. Joblin, Stirling; Mr. and sMr. Harter, of Herkimer, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hyde, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. John Meiklejohn, of Campbellford; Mrs. Johnson, of Sine; Mrs. W. J. Morton, Stirling; Mr. Albert Finkle, Wellmans. Grouped about the family table were smaller tables and there in contentment and enjoyment the evening's program was listened to. There were many that were unable to be present for the anniversary but if not there in body they were present in spirit. Many of the relatives sent telegrams of felicitations to the happy couple some coming from long distances. Rev. Mr. Barrett at intervals read these missives to the gathering. Those received were Dr. J. Ralph Finkle, Chicago; Mrs. J. G. Hyde, Lisbon; Sadie Fox, Mount Pleasant, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McAdam and son, Toronto; Edith Robinson and Bernice Haverly, Port Huron, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver, Lockport, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morton, North Bay; George J. Sherry, Peterboro; Mrs. French, Wellman's Corners; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kingston, Tweed; Mr. and Mrs. James Elliott, Medicine Hat, Alberta; Mr. E. Meiklejohn, Paisley, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Vandervoort, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendry, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Robt Patterson, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. S. Hatton, Stirling; Miss Hume, Stirling; Mrs. Bissonnette, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, Stirling.

The time for departure came and it was with feelings of regret. "Auld Lang Syne" was sung and the family party left for their several homes knowing they had enjoyed a delightfdl evening with a wonderful couple who seem to grow in grace as the years speed away. May their later years be full of that rich enjoyment that comes from a life well spent and a duty nobly performed.

Was Pioneer Of Huntingdon

One of Hastings County's old pioneers, and a native of Huntingdon township, in the person of Mrs. John Caskey, passed to the Great Beyond, on Wednesday of last week, at the ripe old age of 85 years and 10 months. The deceased enjoyed good health until about ten weeks ago when the ravages of old age gripped her, causing her demise.

Mrs. Caskey, whose maiden name was Mary Jane Coulter, was born in Huntingdon township on July 5th, 1842, and was the daughter of the late William and Ellen Coulter. Belonging to the family of one of the early settlers of this section of Eastern Ontario, Mrs. Caskey had seen this district develope from a wilderness to the present day state of clearing and could relate many interesting tales of the hardships borne by the old settlers. On July 17, 1861, she married her husband, who predeceasder about thirty-three years, and moved to Madoc. After her husband's death, Mrs. Caskey continued to reside in Madoc until 1914, after which date she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Robt. Reid, Ridge Road, about two miles from Stirling, until her death. The deceased was a former member of the Presbyterian Church, later joining the United Church.

She is survived by two daughters and one son, viz: Mrs. Robt. Reid, Stirling; Mrs. Jno. A. Ketcheson, Belleville; James A. Caskey, on the old homestead, Madoc; also one brother and one sister, Hugh Coulter, Hungerford township; Mrs. Susan Wilson, Dryden, Ont. Two brothers and one sister predeceased her.

The funeral service was held at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Robt. Reid, lot 9, concession 2, Rawdon, on Friday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. C. W. Barrett, of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling. Mr. Barrett took his text from Isaiah 44:6 "We all fade as a leaf." The remains were interred in Lakeview cemetery, Madoc.

The pall-bearers were four grandsons and two nephews: John, Carl, Herbert and Albert Caskey and Addison and Harry Coulter.

The floral tributes were as follows: Gates ajar, by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ketcheson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caskey; Star of Bethlehem, by nieces and nephews, namely: Mr. and Mrs. F. Blakely, Tweed; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Porter, Thomasburg; Mr. and Mrs. S. Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Coulter, Tweed, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Coulter, Sidney. Sheaf, Mr. and Mrs. H. Coulter, Tweed, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Bateman and Mr. and Mrs. John Bateman, Rawdon.

General Currie Wins

Eleven of the twelve men who composed the special jury in the $50,000 Currie libel action, held at Cobourg, found the defendants, W. T. R. Preston and F. W. Wilson, guilty of libel, and awarded General Currie damages to the extent of $500.00, after being out for three hours and forty minutes. The entire costs of the action will be borne by the defence. These will amount to several thousand dollars. The usual stay of fifteen days was granted by Justice Rose when requested by Frank Regan.

The T. Easton Co. have purchased the chain of Canadian Departmental Stores throughout Ontario.

All dogs within Thurlow township are to be detained or tied up. This is the latest move of the township council which has passed a bylaw to govern the control of dogs.

LOCK THE DOOR

There is a legend about a farmer who went to great expense to fortify and lock his barn after a very fine blooded horse had been stolen.

That legend has come to be a means of showing how unwise it is to wait until the horse has been stolen to lock the door.

Advertising is a form of protection against loss of business which is occasionally treated like the farmer treated the barn and the horse.

From a seemingly logical premise that since there is no business or since business is not quite what is should be now, the merchant proceeds to the decision that there is no need to advertise.

This reasoning overlooks a great fundamental fact and that is that advertising is extended salesmanship; that just because a man hasn't money with which to buy today is no reason he will not have it tomorrow; hat the man who goes after the business consistently reaps consistent rewards; that most folk shop where they are invited to shop; and —that
